Global Car sales have grown by 83% since 1990

As society moves towards a more connected world, there is a growing need to have a clear direction for connected security and situational awareness.

In 2016, it is estimated that there will be around 23.4 billion social network users around the globe, up from 5.8 billion in 2012.

By 2020, mobile will account for 69.4% of the global mobile phone users.

Smartphones are becoming an integral part of daily life, with over 80% of smartphone owners using social media daily. Every moment, over 2.5 billion videos are watched worldwide on mobile and social networks.

5 Tips for Gaining Better Situational Awareness & Making a City Safer

1. Build connections across departments to help reduce risk and manage situations.
2. Use advanced analytics to help predict risks and cope with situations.
3. Have a system that allows for real-time data management and situational awareness.
4. Automate procedures to help identify humanitarian and safety consistent procedures.
5. Build more information with other agencies for better collaboration and effective response.

From 2018 to 2020, the digital universe will grow by a factor of 10 from 44.4 zettabytes globally to 44 trillion.

In 2016, the digital universe will grow by a factor of 10 from 44.4 zettabytes globally to 44 trillion.